

Project Manager

SGI has made many new investments in technology. These specific changes represent the digital side of our Corporate Transformation also known as Digital Transformation. We have moved to an agile environment changing the way we think and embracing a totally new way of delivering work. SGI has been gradually transforming itself and will continue to do so in the years ahead. The successful individual for this role will be a team player that buys into this mindset and embody SGI's vision, mission and values.

We are looking for multiple permanent, full time Project Managers in Regina. You will be responsible for leading and directing project management activities for corporate projects (smaller-scale, less complex projects, or components of larger-scale, more complex projects) for SGI and SGI CANADA. You will also be responsible for providing leadership, direction, and project management expertise to project team members to enable the successful implementation of initiatives from inception through to implementation. As well, you will promote project management best practices, processes, and tools.

Requirements

Candidates must bring the education and experience to succeed in this unique opportunity. We are looking for candidates who have a four-year degree from an accredited post-secondary education institution in a relevant field of study, such as Business, Information Technology, or Mathematics and Applied Sciences along with a Project Management Professional (PMP) designation or a designation from a recognized project management institute. Candidates should have at least five years' experience as a Project Manager, managing multiple projects in a complex, busy, and agile environment with multi-functional teams. Alternative combinations of relevant education and experience may also be considered.

Why SGI?
